To whom it may concern:

SolaHD has been shipping products that are in compliance with EU directive 2002/95/EC on Reduction of Hazardous Substances known as RoHS since June 2006. Under this EU directive, legislation calls for the removal of lead, mercury, cadmium, hexavalent chromium, polybrominated biphenyls and polybrominated ethers from electrical and electronic equipment.

This applies to all SolaHD transformer lines, power supplies (DIN rail and open frames) and power conditioners. Some exceptions may apply. UPS (Uninterruptible Power supplies) products and accessories are exempt from RoHS. Products that conform to this requirement have a sticker label (as shown below) on the unit and the box.
