Frequently Asked Questions

Can I order these accessories after the LTB date?

No. Digi does not accept orders received after December 31, 2026, for these accessories. Contact your Digi account manager or sales representative to place a LTB order.

Do I need to communicate this to my end customers?

Yes — we ask that reseller and distributor partners communicate this change to their end customers on all open Digi opportunities. Your Digi account manager or sales representative can provide talking points and support materials upon request.

Who do I contact with additional questions?

Contact your dedicated Digi account manager or sales representative. We are committed to working closely with each of our partners and customers.
