Overview

- In light of the substantial upsurge in product demand, our existing production capacity is under significant pressure. To proactively address this challenge and support customers, Molex is accelerating the execution of targeted production capacity expansion initiatives. These measures are designed to enhance our supply capabilities and ensure the timely fulfillment of customer orders, while reinforcing our dedication to supporting market demand.
- Product Impact
  - "no impact to fit, form or function"
- Part Number Impact and Products Pictures
  - Please refer attached impacted part list.
- PPAP and samples available upon request after 2026/03/30

To align with your needs, all requests must be completed with confirmed results by this change's implementation date. These part numbers are Molex proprietary designs, therefore considered catalog/general market product. Note that PPAP documentation will not be issued without a formal request.

  - If PPAP is not requested, or no result is received after PPAP submission prior to the implementation date, PPAP will be considered approved.
  - We appreciate your support and urgently seek your assistance to resolve the supply disruption. This will help maintain stable operations, ensure business continuity, and uphold our commitments to you.
