

The Client:

Manufacturer of Electric Vehicle Charging Stations

The Problem:

Tight deadline to source new audio components for outdoor charging stations, which creates additional issues with ambient noise and other factors

The Solution:

Within 90 days, the PUI Audio technical sales and engineering team sourced, tested, and delivered a final product that met all the technical requirements and within budget

The Result:

The client trusted PUI Audio to find the best audio component for their outdoor charging stations and alleviated the complications of an outdoor unit that could have been experienced by their end users